

Training course Regulatory Product Compliance chemicals legislation

Background

EU chemicals legislation like the REACH and POP regulation and the RoHS directive can be complex to understand.

Especially for small and medium sized or non-EU companies it is not easy to determine if their products are in scope and who in the supply-chain has compliance responsibilities. Let alone to translate own obligations into their daily practice.

With our background in the industry and REACH helpdesk we developed practical training courses in which we address specific situations for different types of businesses.
